

Adventurous Podcast Producer

About this Internship

Do you love nature, adventure, history and our local State Parks? Are you into radio and podcasts? Have you always wanted to produce one? The Central Coast State Parks Association needs you to help get our podcast series on air! We are a nonprofit organization which supports our local Central Coast State Parks. This is not a State Park internship; your volunteer hours would be benefiting the parks and helping to raise money for the interpretive and educational programs offered by State Parks.

Unpaid | Part-time with flexible schedule | Opportunity to work remotely

The goal of the podcast is to spread awareness about local (Central Coast-related or California-related) natural, recreational, and cultural history through engaging and informative podcasts.

Some of the things we need help with:

- Program development
- Podcast production (recording, formatting, editing, interviewing, scheduling, etc.)
- Speaker recruitment and outreach
- Advertising
- Networking with local media outlets
- Fundraising and sponsor solicitation
- More tasks to be determined as the podcast develops further

You will have the opportunity to learn about and become involved in:

- Nonprofit operations and public-nonprofit partnerships
- Fundraising and donor outreach
- Local natural and cultural history
- CA State Parks system
- Community relations

About Central Coast State Parks Association (CCSPA)

Central Coast State Parks Association, in partnership with California State Parks, promotes public awareness and stewardship of our natural resources and cultural heritage, now and for future generations. As a cooperative association, we support interpretation, education, and volunteer efforts in local state parks. We are an independent 501(c)(3) non-profit and one of 85 similar cooperating associations across the state who work in partnership with the State Parks.
